Rhymes are used across genres in poetry and songs. For example, rappers use them in their lyrics, while Shakespeare used them in his lines. Now, it's your turn to make some rhymes.

Below, in one column are words and phrases. Under each word, brainstorm others that rhyme with it.

In the second column are poems with missing words. Pick a word from your brainstorm to complete each poem.

Words	Poems
Example: show go Joe foe below slow blow doe tip-toe know bow low sew	Example: Magic Tree House will come to life. Our class will go to see a show. Before we take this special trip, ... “There are some things that we should know.”
beat	Poems are nice, but music is better. When I hear words put to a beat The rhythmic sounds and catchy lines Make it hard to stay in my _____.
regret	Shakespeare wrote 37 plays, showing us love, war and regret. He created classic characters, like Hamlet, Romeo and _____.
stage	Some new actors may have a fright, When first they step onto the stage. So before I put myself in the light, I'll practice my lines written on the _____.
